SALOON MEN SIGN UP WITH JUVENILE COURT JUDGE

Following two conferences between Judge V. C. Gunnell of the juvenile court and the liquor dealers of the city, at which the judge presented to the liquor men a proposition that they make an agreement among themselves to obey strictly the liquor laws of the city and state, the following was received by the judge yesterday:

"The undersigned, liquor dealers of Ogden, Utah, hereby agree, each with the other, that we will fully comply with the laws of this state, relating to the sale or delivery of liquor and tobacco to minors."

(Signed)
T. C. Iverson, D. W. McCarty, D. E. Hopkins, Taylor & Stoker, Sanford Harrop, G. A. Hansen, L. E. Wertz, Allen & Jenkins, Folkman & Allen, T. P. Garner, J. M. McKenna, Blosser & Foley, Baumister Brothers, Thomas Sweeney, J. F. Smith, H. R. Southard, Anderson & Garner, Jose Lausovic, G. W. Murphy, L. W. Fair, William H. Anderson, Mgr., O'Neill Brothers, John F. Ahern, Charles W. Iverson, D. A. Smyth, J. E. Davenport, F. M. Tout, C. S. Potter, George Timmerman, Mgr.

In speaking of the receipt of the agreement, Judge Gunnell said that it did not cover as broad a field as he had submitted to the liquor dealers a few weeks ago, but that it stated clearly the position taken by them regarding the members of the community directly under his supervision. He had felt for some time that the matter of selling liquor and tobacco to minors had been more a matter of negligence on the part of the dealers than desire and that he wanted them to state publicly their position so that it should be known that they did not want boys loafing around their places of business. Heretofore the court has been working hard against the dealers and has dealt leniently with the minors who have been brought before it for using tobacco and liquor, but now that the saloon men have come out clearly on the question, said Judge Gunnell, the boys and their parents will be held more strictly responsible in such cases.

In regard to the original proposition presented to the liquor dealers, Judge Gunnell said that it covered all phases of the liquor laws of the city and state. This was presented because the juvenile court is interested in all avenues that are open to boys and girls to fall into temptation, and one of them is the breaking of the

YOUNG BOY IS SHOT WHILE RETURNING FROM A HUNT

Yesterday afternoon Roy Boswell, a 13-year-old boy of 2335 Lincoln avenue, was accidentally shot in the right knee by James Pender, who is about the same age, and quite seriously wounded.

The boys had been out hunting birds and rabbits in the vicinity of West Weber and they were on their way home on Twelfth street when the accident occurred. The Pender boy was walking a short distance ahead of Roy when he suddenly turned to speak to young Boswell and accidentally discharged his shotgun the load of the bird shot entering the right knee and tearing loose the muscles. No bones were broken but it took considerable time for Dr. G. A. Dickson to remove all the small shot.

Young Pender says that as he turned around to speak to Boswell, he removed his shotgun from one hand to another and in so doing accidentally discharged it. He had been cautioned by Roy to carry his gun loaded but he did not heed the advice. Boswell was helpless and James undertook to carry him home, but after going about a block gave up and had to call for help. Joseph Allen responded with a horse and buggy and conveyed the injured boy home.

Dr. Dickson states that the wound is a jagged one and that the muscles are badly lacerated. The youngster will be confined to his bed some time.

A. KUHN & BRO. GOES OUT OF RETAIL BUSINESS

Owing to a great increase in their wholesale business, the members of the firm of A. Kuhn & Bros., after 45 years in Ogden doing a retail and wholesale clothing and furnishing goods business, will devote their entire time to the wholesale business exclusively beginning Jan. 1.

The retail department in their building at 2365 Washington avenue will be entirely eliminated and negotiations will be completed within a few days whereby a local company in a different line will secure a long-term lease on the entire ground floor space.

The distributing point for the Kuhn wholesale house will remain here owing to Ogden's advantage as the gateway to the intermountain trade, and all the present quarters of the firm above the first floor will continue to be used for that purpose.

The manufacturing of clothing will be given greater attention than in the past and will be carried on from the New York factory.

On Monday the firm will begin to work out the plans for the big transformation in the affairs of the concern.

HAS TOES CRUSHED BY AN ACCIDENT

C. Larson, a laborer, recently employed in the construction of electric power transmission lines in Weber canyon, fell from a train as it entered the yards of Ogden last evening and suffered a crushed foot.

The train was moving slowly and Larson thought he could alight without difficulty, even though he was carrying a roll of bedding on his back. In getting down from the steps of the car, he lost his footing and fell, his left foot being thrown partly under the wheels of the train.

The man showed much pluck, walking to the sheriff's office after he had been injured to ask for assistance. He was sent to the Dee hospital where County Physician Robinson attended him.

The foot was so badly crushed that it became necessary to amputate two toes.
